Dear Basil:

Subject: [REDACTED] PCS Plans

In response to your TK 902, we are not able specifically at this time to confirm plans for [REDACTED]. There are two factors to be resolved first. One of these concerns our commitment to the Army to provide a qualified teletype technician to the [REDACTED] and the other concerns possible abolition of the technician position on [REDACTED].

It is probable that we will want [REDACTED] to extend to mid-September. His replacement will be [REDACTED] with an ETA of 14 September. Before confirming dates, I would like your views as to whether we could safely thus postpone the arrival of a fully qualified teletype man without risk of further complaint from the Signal Officer.

A question has arisen as to the real need on [REDACTED] for the maintenance technician position which was offered [REDACTED]. This matter has become acute because overall [REDACTED] personnel ceiling restrictions. [REDACTED] is carefully assessing this position, and if he finds that it is marginal, [REDACTED] would have to return to one of the domestic stations.

As soon as yours and [REDACTED] views have been received, I will confirm [REDACTED] reassignment plan. You may tell [REDACTED] that an extension seems likely, but please do not discuss the [REDACTED] situation with him at this time.

Sincerely,
